

GOGIRL™
DON'T TAKE LIFE SITTING DOWN™

Contact: Joel Swanson
Risdall McKinney Public Relations
651-286-6774 | jswanson@risdall.com

GOGIRL TESTIMONIALS

- I'm a registered nurse, but I'm also a marathon runner. I think this device would be very appropriate for some of the marathons I run. I wouldn't have to chance getting poison ivy from squatting in the woods. I'm also a cross country skier and when I'm out in the wilderness I don't want to bare everything – stretch down in the snow and get my butt wet.
- Using GoGirl was better than I thought. I was afraid at first; I thought I was going to get wet. You have that initial fear, but it was great!
- My sister is an infectious disease doctor with the World Health Organization. She travels around the world 364 days a year to places like Ethiopia and Tanzania. Places where the best toilets you're going to find are a hole in the ground. So this will probably be one of the best Christmas gifts she'll get. Absolutely necessary and helpful.
- I'll use the GoGirl when I'm out riding my motorcycle so I won't have to stop at the bathroom. I can just get off on the side of the road and go potty and just be done.
- I'll use it when I go to concerts and probably anywhere I go, other than my house. I bought two already and will probably get another one for my sister. I recommend that everyone buy one.
- It sure would have been useful in the Army. I went through basic training and it was hard to even get a bathroom break there, let alone any privacy. If you could have just had that and run into the woods, it would have been much more convenient.
- I wouldn't have initially tried it, but I was ice fishing this past weekend and it was interesting trying to pee out there in the land of men, so I thought I'd give it a try because my husband is adventurous and we're going to do this kind of thing again. I will definitely use this product in the future.
- I'd use this going anywhere actually, ice fishing, the state fair, out and about... if you had a dire emergency and there wasn't a bathroom anywhere.
- I'm a flight attendant, "international sky goddess," as I like to call myself, and I travel to some very exotic places that have questionable restroom facilities. Asia typically has a trough in the floor that you need to squat over and it's not just not very convenient or sanitary. I just tried the product and it's phenomenal. I'm in love.

From Facebook

- This is Awesome!!! I don't know how many times I wished someone came out with a product like this one. :-)
-Ashley, TX
- Where have you been all my life? I need one for my tackle box!
-Laura, NE
- GoGirl is like the new Snuggie...totally unnecessary but still completely essential!
-Shannon, NV
- This is perfect for camping!!! I want one!
-Eva, CA

From Twitter

- At first, I was a little closed-minded about your product, but now I see what a good idea it is! Love what you're doing!
-Catherine, AL
- Your product deserves a standing ovation! Wish I knew about it earlier!
-Savera, MN
- I can tell you that with my back surgeries, your product would have been one mightily helpful device, not so easy to get up and down those first few days.
-Fiona, MN
- Finally! A classy way to pee in public.
-Courtney, NY
- Hmm...this is very interesting. Would have been useful during 22 hour hike on Mt. Whitney!
-Marissa, CA